Families came out to pick up litter and help keep their community clean.

Cleaning up the community

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Sometimes, delay pays off
- as the Town of Bradford

West Gwillimbury discovered, when it postponed the BWG Community Clean Up Day by one week. One short week ago, Southern Ontario was plunged into a polar vortex, with subzero temperatures and snow. On April 16, the sun was shining, and the weather reports promised temperatures in the double digits.

Conditions were perfect for the annual community clean-up on Saturday, that saw three busloads of volunteers head out to pick up litter from trails, valleys, and empty lots along the main street - anywhere the wind had deposited blowing plastics, cups and other trash.

Incentives for seniors accommodation

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

A 2013 study by Urban-Merics assessed the need for seniors' housing in Bradford West Gwillimbury, and concluded that by 2031 there will be 3,000 households aged 55-plus, but a "pervasive lack of local housing options that cater to the needs of a growing seniors population."

Town chief administrative officer Geoff McKnight agreed, telling council on April 19 that based on current construction, "We're definitely not going to satisfy that demand."

He was speaking at a new public meeting for a new "Community Improvement Plan for Seniors Housing" – a program that will allow the municipality to "invest private investment" in seniors' accommodation, and meet a key priority of council.

The Municipal Act prevents municipalities from providing "bonuses" for development, except in designated Community Improvement Plan Areas, where incentives can be used to drive change deemed to be "of public benefit." The proposal defines a Seniors Housing CIP area that coincides with the Bradford Urban Boundary, and offers the following incentives:

- a grant equal to 50% of the development charges levied by the town;
- a Tax Increment Grant that would offset up to 50% of the increase in annual taxes resulting from development; developers could choose either the tax or DC grant but not both;
- a grant to cover 50% of planning and building permit fees;
- a grant to cover 50% of the cost of "cash in lieu of parkland."

To be eligible, projects would have to deliver at least 50 living units, provide on-site amenities – such as a common dining area, recreational facilities, medical and personal care – and comply with Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act standards.

The goal is to provide at least 100 units of seniors' accommodation by 2018, "within this term of council," McKnight said. Several written submissions were received, including letters from Bekerman Properties and St. John's Presbyterian Church, asking that the incentive be increased from 50%, to 100%, at least in the first year of the CIP program – a standard the town has applied in its other Community Improvement Plan programs, for industrial and downtown revitalization.

"It's certainly at council's discretion to set that limit at whatever," said McKnight. Deputy Mayor James Leduc asked to see the "economics" of increasing the DC grant to 100%, to strengthen the incentive. "There's no ifs, ands or buts about it. I want to see a seniors living complex built by 2018," Leduc said, noting that the town needs a wide range of housing types, from "1000 sq. ft. bungalows... to assisted living."

Mayor Bob Keffler also asked for details of the cost to the town, "to be able to offer a little more tax incentive," noting that the taxes and jobs generated could offset the losses of DCs.

The new CIP program could be in place by June, McKnight said. He encouraged residents and developers to send in comments, which are "welcomed and invited," up to the point council makes a decision.

Medical marijuana plant proposed

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

BWG council has voted to support an application to Health Canada, for a medical marijuana facility on Reagents Industrial Parkway.

The site is a vacant industrial plant at 100 Reagents and the applicant, Med Release Corporation, is described as Canada's largest producer of medical marijuana by "volume shipped and revenue."

Med Release, which already operates a 55,000 sq. ft. facility in Markham, is proposing to expand its operation to Bradford. The building offers almost 35 times the space, for the cultivation and processing of marijuana, filling orders, providing customer service, administration, research and development.

Med Release estimates that it will create 250 full-time jobs, when expansion is completed within 12 to 24 months, and 100 part-time positions.

"That building's been empty for quite a while," said Councillor Gary Byrnes, expressing support for a "growing industry." He pointed out that if BWG doesn't support the proposal, the company will go elsewhere – taking its jobs with it.

"When it comes to jobs, this is definitely a bonus to our municipality," said Councillor Peter Dykile Jr., noting that the federal government has set "some very strict guidelines" regarding security and odor control.

"It's no different from any pharmaceutical company," said Councillor Raj Sandhu.

"I see this as no different," Councillor Gary Lamb agreed. "I would expect nothing less than a First Class operation... It's no different than General Motors or anybody else. It's providing jobs." He pointed out that medical marijuana reduces the suffering of patients with glaucoma and other conditions. "I'm in support of this."

Council voted unanimously to provide a letter of support for the proposal.

"I'm glad we have this property available for them," said Deputy Mayor James Leduc, noting that the positions available will range from forklift operators, to PhDs. Medical marijuana is agriculture, and "we are an agricultural community," he said.

Henderson Park under construction

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

BWG council has awarded a contract for construction of soccer pitches, bleachers, parking trails, a recreational activity zone and picnic area on a portion of the nearly 100 acre Henderson Community Park, at 10 SR and Line 8.

Three bids were submitted, and on April 19, council awarded the tender to low bidder Gate-man Millroy Inc., in the amount of $6.71 million – bringing total cost to $7,577,537.98, including $75,812 for the original Master Plan Study by Dillon Consulting in 2014; $322,132 for the detailed design by Landscape Planning Inc.; construction, administration and contingencies, and HST.

The total exceeds the original budgeted amount of $6.98 million, and council approved an additional expenditure of $597,537. Funding will come from development charges (60.3%), the Municipal Asset Sale Reserve Fund, and Capital Expenditures Reserve.

Construction will begin "in the very near future – two to three weeks," said Director of Community Services, Terry Fagan, to be completed in 2017. The park is expected to open in 2018.

Khalsa Day flag-raising in BWG

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

Khalsa Day - Vaisakhi - celebrates the creation of the Khalsa by Guru Gobind Singh Ji in 1699, the holiest day of the Sikh Calendar.

On April 16, members of the local Sikh community, friends, supporters and community leaders came out to celebrate, and raise the Khalsa flag at the Bradford Courthouse.

"As Sikhs, as Canadians, we are proud," said Councillor Raj Sandhu - and especially proud of the Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury, which was the first community to "raise the Khalsa flag officially in Ontario, if not Canada," several years ago.

"That tells you how progressive-thinking the municipality is, how progressive the administration was. That is the true Canadian value... The people in this town are way ahead in being open-hearted, and open-minded."

Councillor Sandhu noted that Sikh values, of gender equality, equality of race, caste and color,

"match closely with Canadian values."

MP for York Simcoe, Peter Van Loan attended the flag-raising. "The Sikh community is a tremendously engaged and active community," Van Loan said. "It is a community that has taken its role as Canadian citizens very, very seriously."

BWG Mayor Rob Keffler proclaimed April 13 as Khalsa Day in the Town of Bradford West Gwillimbury, and spoke of Sikhism as "rooted in the teaching of equality" at the flag-raising. The event included prayers, and free refreshments for the all-ages crowd, in the spirit of "Vand Chakna" - sharing the rewards of life, one of the core beliefs of Sikhism.

News Brief

Formal apology for Komagata Maru

May 18, 2016, will mark the 102nd anniversary of the Komagata Maru incident, when a ship carrying 376 passengers, mostly from the Punjab and of Sikh descent, fleeing famine in northern India, was refused entry to Canada due to discriminatory laws. The ship was forced to return to India with 352 of its passengers - 19 of whom were killed when they were fired upon as they disembarked at Budge-Budge, India; many others imprisoned.

On May 18, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau will make a formal apology in the House of Commons. "An apology made in the House of Commons will not erase the pain and suffering of those who lived through that shameful experience. But an apology is not only the appropriate action to take, it's the right action to take, and the House is the appropriate place for it to happen," Trudeau said, in an announcement on April 11.

Point of View

21st C. solutions for 19th C. problems?

The state of emergency at Attawapiskat has once again put a spotlight on the plight of remote First Nations communities - but let's face it, we've been aware of the appalling conditions for decades: the long-standing boil water advisories, the substandard and crowded housing that is a breeding ground for mold, health issues, abuse and despair.

It has taken an epidemic of suicide attempts - 101 since September 13, on a single weekend, 5 more April 15 - to finally spark a demand for action. Unfortunately, we have short attention spans, here in the south. Even so, we now have more tools now than ever before, that could help find the answers.

There are all kinds of low-cost clean-water solutions that have been developed for Third World countries where access to clean water is an issue. Would these solutions work here at home?

We have the internet, and online apps that can provide instant connections. Couldn't we connect every elementary school on a Reserve with its high school, providing First Nations kids with virtual tours of their future secondary schools and host cities, long before they leave the Reserve? Couldn't we link Grade 8 classes with high school teachers and students who could be mentors and partners, to welcome and guide them as they venture into unfamiliar, and often frightening territory?

People work from home and online all the time. Could courses and training be provided via the Internet, for students in remote areas? With training, could there be online job opportunities - in design, research?

There is a critical need for improved access to health care, and especially mental health services. Could the internet and telehealth help fill some of the gaps? What about a mental health hotline in Cree and other First Nations languages, staffed by fully-trained Aboriginal people? Could we involve the First Nations in their own solutions?

There is a need for a new model. Right now, the traditional ministry of Indian Affairs, or Aboriginal Affairs, and now Indigenous Peoples Affairs, grew out of 19th century colonialism. The bureaucracy is in place as much to enforce the rules as to assist the people, and swallows up a huge chunk of the funding set aside for First Nations.

It's time for a new model that gives First Nations people more say in their programs and governance, that ties health care, social services and education more closely to provincial standards while ensuring that the federal government provides adequate funding - and that makes sure that "adequate funding" is available now, when it's needed, and not some time down the road.

Volunteer appreciation

Submitted

April 10-16 was National Volunteer Week, and Bradford Valley Care Community celebrated, with a free Zumba class, offered by Cathy Topp McLean, and an afternoon of Volunteer Appreciation, on the theme, "Volunteers are our Superheroes." The 2016 Volunteer of the Year Award was presented to Kathy Clarke, who has been volunteering at the Tuck Shop for six years, and organizes tea parties for residents in the café lounge, providing fresh fruit and baked goodies every Sunday. Lisa Lloyd, volunteer co-ordinator congratulated Kathy, and the other 130 wonderful volunteers for their time and dedication.

Letter to the Editor

VOLUNTEERS WANTED

To the editor: As National Volunteer Week comes to a close, the Lake Simcoe Region Conservation Authority (LSRCA) has a lot to reflect on and celebrate with our many volunteers. In 2015, LSRCA projects benefited from 2,700 volunteers, who contributed 6,750 volunteer hours.

Last year, with the help of volunteers, we planted over 23,000 trees and shrubs. Our dedicated volunteers also helped at clean-up events, removed invasive species and assisted at fundraising events, among other activities. While the benefits to LSRCA are obvious, they also extend to the volunteers themselves. According to research conducted by Prof. Cassie Mogilner and published in the Harvard Business Review and Forbes.com, volunteering helps people develop new skills, build experience, and feel more capable, confident and useful.

With spring finally in the air, we have a number of community tree planting events coming up. These events are some of the easiest ways for people to help improve the health of our communities, get outside, get active and have fun with family, friends and neighbours. On Saturday, May 7 (Mother's Day Weekend), we're holding tree-planting events in Uxbridge (Herrema Fields), Aurora (Arboretum) and Keswick (Whipper Watson Park).

To find out about these and other spring planting events as they are planned, visit our events calendar at www.lsrca.on.ca for details, or follow us on Facebook, at Facebook.com/lakesimcoereconservation to get updates about the ways you can help volunteers, for the watershed and for yourself.

HAVE INETAGENT BY YOUR SIDE

For over 50 years, Real Estate has been listed and sold the same way.

But, thanks to a real estate broker with over 40 years of experience in the industry working for top real estate companies, Rick Hamilton has revolutionized Real Estate industry with his company, iNetAgent, Brokerage.

iNetAgent, Brokerage has developed state-of-the-art, ground-breaking technology that gives today's Consumers what they want: more control through a streamlined process for listing and selling your property. A way to save money by not only getting the best value for your home, but also offering extremely competitive commission rates.

iNetAgent is not a 'do-it-yourself' or discount brokerage. It is a unique professional corporate team adapted to the needs of today's consumers. Sellers get Professional Real Estate Services that provides home evaluations, generates listings, creates online feature pages with customized floor plans with colour photographs of the interior of the home, and marketing proposals that include a range of strategies and media campaigns. And Consumers can follow along on their mobile device, for immediate updates.

It's like having your own 'very special team', always available, always on the alert, always ready to provide assistance when you need it.

The key is VIP Sellers Dashboard Technology, described as "the most advanced web portal in Canada" - a proprietary portal that allows the seller to follow every step of the process, from Listing to Showing to Final sale, in real time on their mobile devices.

Sellers can log-in to see, at a touch of the screen, how many people have viewed their property, the responses and feedback, which agents have submitted offers, and the offer details, from timelines to dollars.

Setting up a viewing has never been easier. Gone are the days of back-and-forth calling, tracking down and connecting Realtors with interested parties. At iNetAgent, a request for a viewing generates an email and text message to the Seller, which can be confirmed or turned down immediately, with a single click.

"Savvy consumers today want to be involved in the whole process," Hamilton says, "and iNetAgent keeps them involved, from Listing to eventual Sale, making it possible for them to retain more of their tax-free equity."

"We're trying to make sure we're serving up the information at a rapid pace," agrees software engineer and company President, Jatin Suthar. "We're trying to provide all the resources homeowners should be considering."

The corporate model allows iNetAgent, Brokerage to keep commission costs low – a smarter way to sell, a smarter way to save, and a smarter service that is changing the Real Estate industry.

iNetAgent is expanding into the Bradford area, offering opportunities for Consumers, both Sellers and Buyers, and for Realtors – making the process more efficient for all, providing more control and clarity, and a better user experience. Like having a personal sidekick, always on your team.

MIRIAM KING Bradford Times

Fifteen years ago, Jodi Greenstreet and Patti LaRose saw a need in the Bradford Community – the need for a youth ministry and drop in centre, that would provide counselling, support, and a safe place for kids to meet, do homework, share their questions and concerns.

Their passion, prayers and persistence, as CrossTrainers Ministries, resulted in Training For Life, an internship program to train youth leaders; the Portable – a youth drop-in centre at Bradford District High School, established just weeks after 9/11 in 2001; and The Hub Youth Drop-In Centre, which opened in the old St. Mary's Building in 2003.

Since then, CrossTrainers has operated the Hand-Up Clothing Room and a Kids' Playzone in the St. Mary's building, True Vibe women's group, and Mercy House transitional housing for women.

On April 9, Greenstreet, LaRose, staff and volunteers with CT Ministries celebrated the past 15 years, welcoming community supporters, ministers, volunteers and politicians to a dinner and evening of thanks at King Christian School, formerly Holland Marsh District Christian School.

"How do we share all that we've done?" said Greenstreet. "Our whole purpose, this whole night, is just to bring God's Word... Applaud Him, brag about Him, praise God together."

There were representatives of the churches – Bradford Alliance (now Green Valley Alliance), Bradford Community Church, Bradford Baptist Church, Springdale Christian Reformed Church – that played a key role in providing leadership and support for CrossTrainers programs and Mercy House.

Past Mayors Frank Jonkman Sr. and Doug White were also present, and thanked for their involvement. It was Jonkman who invited CrossTrainers to explain their concept to council, found space for the Hub in the town-owned St. Mary's Building, and who introduced Greenstreet and LaRose to the developer who provided an 8,000 sq. ft. home on Hwy. 88 for use as Mercy House, for a fee of $1 per year, including hydro and taxes.

Greenstreet traced the concept, from then-South Simcoe Deputy Chief of Police Al Simcoe man identifying transitional housing for women and children as a top need in the town, to an interdenominational meeting of church women who embraced the idea, to Jonkman asking, "If I could get you a big house, could you use it for anything?"

She also thanked the Springdale Christian Reformed Church and Lawrence de Peuter, who superintended the extensive renovations to the building – and the many donors who provided the funds, and furnishings.

Mercy House has now closed – the home is being used to house a family of 12 Syrian refugees, sponsored by BRUDC interdenominational group – but CrossTrainers continues its work, including a new 16-month internship program for college-aged girls, training as leaders.

Tea at the legion

MIRIAM KING/BRADFORD TIMES

The fourth annual Ladies Auxiliary Afternoon Tea took place at the Bradford Legion, April 17, with elegant finger sandwiches, tea served in china cups, and sweet treats. The free event was open to men, women and children, an opportunity to dress up in Sunday best, wear an elegant hat, and enjoy afternoon tea. As one Auxiliary member noted, tea parties are not for "old people", but a great time for "laughing and giggling and having fun." A contingent of Red Hatters, who came out for tea and treats, proved her point.

New Breastfeeding Place in Bradford

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

Breastfeeding moms now have a place to meet and share information in Bradford. The Bradford Breastfeeding Place has opened at the BWG Public Library, 425 Holland St. West.

Every Thursday, between 1 and 2:30 p.m., the weekly drop-in and peer support group for breastfeeding families will meet in the Green Multipurpose room. Breastfeeding moms can bring older children along; there will be toys and activities available, while the moms breastfeed, interact, and get support and information on everything from breastfeeding to child development, from a public health nurse with the Simcoe Muskoka District Health Unit.

This is the fourth Breastfeeding Place launched by the Health Unit. The other three are located in Barrie, Alliston and Collingwood.

"It was based on a community assessment," and a perceived need, says public health nurse Sonya Hamilton. "Bradford West Gwillimbury is an area of rapid growth, and there are many young families starting up here who don't have readily available services to support them as they

The Bradford Breastfeeding Place is operated in partnership with the library and Ontario Early Years Centre, Bradford Satellite. All breastfeeding families are welcomed.

Save the Mothers, for Mother's Day

Bradford - On Mother's Day Weekend, residents of Bradford and other communities across Canada and the U.S., will walk to support Maternal Health in the developing world, where childbirth is one of the leading killers of women.

Every day, an estimated 830 women die of complications related to pregnancy and childbirth - almost all of which are preventable. In the developing world, social, economic and cultural barriers may prevent women from receiving adequate care.

Steps to Deliver Change is a fundraising walk for Save the Mothers, a Canadian charity based in East Africa, which provides advocacy and training, empowering local leaders to improve standards and practices of Maternal Health in their own communities.

This year's walk will take place on Saturday, May 7, at St. John's Presbyterian Church, 2940 St. Andrew St. in Brampton, starting at 10 a.m. For more information, contact Walk organizer Rex: Dr. Daniel Scott, 905-928-7283 or ddscott@rogers.com.

Small Ball wraps up in South Simcoe

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Small but mighty.

The boys and girls in the South Simcoe Basketball Club's "Small Ball" program might be too young to play in SSB's leagues, but they certainly can dribble, shoot, and score baskets.

And on April 14, in the gym at Fred C. Cook Public School in Bradford, the kids, ages 5 to 7, were congratulated for their progress in the Club's Fall and Spring programs, and presented with trophies.

"Just watching them develop eye-hand co-ordination - it's just awesome," said coach and SSB vice president Shane Fitch.

SSBC president Sylvester "Sly" Murray, and coaches/VPs Chris Muncey and Fitch handed out the hardware, as proud parents watched - and the club's mascot, a special guest, handed out high-fives.

Small Ball is over for the season, even as kids in the older leagues go on to provincial competition, but Murray encouraged youngsters to stay active over the summer months, and prac-

"Get outside, get active, have fun - that's what it's all about," he said.

Making a splash, on April Pool's Day

MIRIAM KING
Bradford Times

Saturday was April Pool's Day - a day of water safety and fun at the BWG Leisure Centre, all in support of the Lifesaving Society-Ontario.

The highlight of the afternoon at the Bradford Lions Aquatic Centre was the "Lifejacket Relay Race." Five four-person teams swam lengths of the pool, each swimmer wearing a lifejacket over shorts or swim trunks and t-shirts.

Last year's winners, the Leisure Centre's Lifeguard Team, faced competition from Simcoe County Paramedics, South Simcoe Police, Bradford Firefighters, and the Bradford Lions.

It was wacky, it was fun - and it was all over in just 7 minutes, with the lifeguards the clear winners once again.

The Lions sponsored April Pool's Day, paying all pool fees so that the proceeds could go entirely to the Lifesaving Society's Watersmart education and drowning-prevention programs. There were also donation buckets, spin-the-wheel-and-win-a-prize for $1 and the balloon art of Debbie Stevens, free with a donation to the cause, helping to raise money.

In 2015, staff at the Lions Aquatic Centre raised $2,428 for the Lifesaving Society - which won Bradford West Gwillimbury the Lifesaving Society's Darnell Challenge Cup, in the "single facility" category. This year's goal is to raise $2,500, in 2016 - and April Pool's Day brought the staff $716.80 closer to that goal.

MIRIAM KING/BRADFORD TIMES

South Simcoe Police team - from right, Elisabeth Aschwandner, Jana Douglas, Connor McWatters and Isaac Pereira - may not have had much swim practice, but they were ready to have fun at April Pool's Day.

Walk for MOBYSS, and mental health

Bradford - The Canadian Mental Health Association, York Region and South Simcoe Branch, knows the stats: that one in five Canadians - one in four students - will experience mental health issues. That suicide is the second leading cause of death among youth aged 15 to 24.

That 28% of students reported that, in the past year, there was a time when they wanted to talk to someone about mental health issues but didn't know where to turn.

The CMHA has a solution.

Last year, the association launched MOBYSS, Ontario's first mobile mental health clinic for youth, that brings mental health services to youth in York Region and South Simcoe - anywhere young people might have difficulty accessing services, because of travel distances, stigma or other barriers.

MOBYSS is on the road six or seven days a week, stopping at schools, parks and malls, to provide assessment, suicide intervention, addiction counselling, referrals, sex health education and health screening services - free of charge.

The goal is to serve over 2,000 youth every year, at an annual operating cost of $500,000 - and fundraising keeps the wheels rolling.

The Bradford Lions Club is hosting its first Walk for MOBYSS on May 1. The walk will take place at the Bradford Public Library. 425

Holland St. W., with registration at 11 a.m., the 5K walk starting at noon. Pledge forms are available at Pet Valh-Bradford, Century 21 Heritage Group, 3 Scoops Ice Cream and Nancy's Nifty Nook. Minimum pledge $10.

"My hope is that this walk will bring not just much-needed funds to keep MOBYSS going, but also to raise awareness (of) what MOBYSS does," says walk organizer, Roddie Saunders. "There is such a stigma on mental health... We all have mental health issues in our lives at some point; whether it's depression, sadness or even suicidal thoughts, we will all struggle with mental health."

"MOBYSS gives our youth the help they need to deal with mental health issues in a safe and confidential place." MOBYSS is parked at the Bradford Library every Tuesday; see mobyss.ca for information or to book an appointment.

For information on the Walk for MOBYSS, contact Roddie Saunders, 289-338-7666 or roddie.saunders@century21.ca.

Eco-Fundraiser at SWOPS

BRADFORD TIMES STAFF

It's a division of interests: The Bond Head & District Lions are collecting unwanted electronics and e-waste at the Bond Head Community Hall on May 7; students at Sir William Ocker Public School are focussing on used clothing, household items and scrap metal, April 29 to May 1.

Both drives will keep reusable and recyclable materials out of landfill — and raise funds for their respective organizations.

Sir William Ocker is asking everyone to save their pop cans, scrap metal, used clothing and textiles, for the school's Eco-Fundraiser. Bags of pop cans, and bags of textiles and household items (clean clothing, soft toys, belts, purses, shoes (or bound together) drapes and linens) can be dropped off at the school on County Rd. 88 all during April, and on May 1.

The scrap metal drive will take place Friday, April 29 from 4 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1. Wanted: aluminum blinds, aluminum foil, aluminum siding and eaves-troughing, appliances, barbecues, bikes, toys, brass, car parts, chainsaws, chains, metal chairs, chimney liners, copper, iron rods, cutlery, exercise bikes, farm implements, faucets, fencing, filing cabinets, fitness equipment, foldlites, metal frames, garage doors, hot water tanks, kettles, toasters, ladders, lawn chairs, lawn mowers, motors, nails, nuts, bolts, oil tanks (empty), paint cans, pipes and fitting, pots and pans, power tools, rakes, shovels, rims, satellite dishes, metal screen doors, bathtubs, tractors.

Also accepted: Batteries (car and household), Christmas lights, extension cords and computer cables but no propane tanks. TVs, computer monitors, electronics, freezers or fridges.

Volunteers are needed to help unload and sort metal items during the Scrap Metal Collection. To get involved, or to donate larger items, contact the School Office at 905-775-2922.

Lions' e-Waste Collection Day

Spring cleaning? Don't throw out those old electronics. The Bond Head & District Lions Club is hosting an e-waste collection event on Saturday, May 7 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Bond Head Hall on County Rd. 27.

In partnership with Ontario Electronic Stewardship, the Lions are asking residents to drop off their end-of-life electronics — from old televisions to unwanted computers and peripherals — to be properly disposed of, and kept from landfill. Funds raised will go to the Lions Club. To support its work in the community.

What's accepted? Monitors and television sets, desktop and portable computers, computer peripherals, printers, copiers and multifunction devices (restrictions may apply), telephones and answering machines, cellular devices, pagers, home theatres (equalizers, amps, speakers, tuners and turntables), aftermarket vehicle audio and video devices, and image, audio and video devices, both non-portable and portable — and "anything with a cord," but no fridges or freezers.

Police Briefs

Police issue warning

Bradford - Around 7 p.m. on April 14, South Simcoe Police were called to an apartment building, for a report of two males "out of control." Officers arrived to find two teenaged males in medical distress. The youths were aggressive and violent; fearing they could harm themselves, officers used a conducted energy weapon (Taser). The youths were restrained but only stopped struggling once delayed by paramedics. They were transported to hospital, released and released. It is not known what illicit chemical drugs they had ingested. "There's no quality control with street level drugs," said Deputy Chief Andrew Fletcher. "You have no idea what you're putting in your body, just the word of a dealer."

Break and enter

Infinitis - A home owner on the 4th line of Infinitis returned home around 7:40 p.m. on April 14, to find that his home had been broken into and ransacked.

A quantity of jewellery, cash and gift cards were taken. South Simcoe Police are currently reviewing forensic evidence. Anyone with information is asked to contact police, or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS.

Firearms charges

Infinitis - South Simcoe Police received a report of drug waste to a home in Belle Ewart, caused by a firearm. In the early morning hours of April 9, a suspect had fired a shotgun at the home, in response to an earlier dispute. Pellets from the shotgun lodged in the siding of the home, near two of the windows. A number of people were inside the home at the time of the shooting. The suspect was identified and a search warrant obtained. On April 12, just before 6:30 p.m., officers from Uniform Patrol, Street Crime and the Canine Unit executed the search warrant and took a 23-year-old Infinitis man into custody. A shotgun, ammunition and a small quantity of cocaine were seized. The suspect was charged with Careless Use of a Firearm, Careless Storage of Ammunition, Possession of a Firearm without a licence, Possession of a Firearm while prohibited, Mischief over $5000, and Possession of Cocaine. Police are looking for additional witnesses.

Theft of boat

Bradford - A Bradford man called South Simcoe Police to report that his boat and trailer had been stolen from his driveway, sometime between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on April 12. A neighbour advised that a man in a silver Dodge pickup truck had hooked up the trailer and driven away around 8 a.m. The suspect is described as white, about 30 years old, 5'9" with a medium build, wearing a ball cap. The 2001 white B&H Outlaw boat has "Johnny Boss" written on the stern and is on a trailer with Ontario licence plate L211SP. Anyone with information or video surveillance of the area is asked to call police or Crime Stoppers.

Bradford Eagles 2003-2004 Girls Soccer players and their coaches came out to help.

The Ahmadiyya Muslim Community sent a large contingent to help with the annual clean-up. At least 60 members of the AMJ turned out, more than filling a bus - and bringing along coffee and donuts to share.

"Cleanliness is an act of faith," explained Munawar Chodry. "That's why they are here, cleaning their city."

Scouts, Guides, players with the 2003/2004 Girls Eagles Rep soccer teams, high school students looking for community hours, and families teaching their kids about community involvement, all came out to take part in the annual event, and were thanked by SWG Mayor Rob Keffer and by organizer Mike O'Hare.

"We really appreciate it. We like to keep our community clean," said O'Hare, noting that a lot of the trash came from blue boxes, set at curbside. He urged residents to take precautions on collection day - "Thursdays are our windiest days" - to keep recyclables from blowing out of the blue boxes.

The town provided water, latex gloves, garbage bags and safety vests for the volunteers, Swiss-Carby provided the buses, and at the end of three hours of hard work, the volunteers returned to the Bradford Community Centre for a free pizza lunch.
